Tenses

Present Forms

Present Simple

(permanent state)

He takes the train to work every morning.

(daily routine/repeated actions)

- b) for general truths and laws of nature.

The sun sets in the west.

The present simple is used with the following time expressions: usually, often, always, etc., every day/ week/month/year, in the morning/afternoon/ evening, at night, at the weekend, on Mondays, etc.

Present Continuous

We use the present continuous:

- a) for actions taking place now, at the moment of speaking.

He is giving the baby a bath at the moment.

- b) for temporary actions; that is actions that are going on around now, but not at the actual moment of speaking.

I'm looking for a new job these days.

(He is not looking for a job at the moment of speaking.)

- c) with adverbs such as: always, constantly, continually, etc. for actions which happen very often, usually to express annoyance, irritation or anger.

a) I'm always meeting Sara when I go shopping. (action which happens very often)

b) You're constantly interrupting me when I'm talking. (expressing annoyance/irritation)

- d) for actions that we have already arranged to do in the near future, especially when the time and place have been decided.

They're moving into their new house next week. (The time has been decided.)

- e) for changing or developing situations.

More and more species are becoming extinct.

The present continuous is used with the following time expressions: now, at the moment, at present, these days, still, nowadays, today, tonight, etc.

Present Perfect

We use the present perfect:

- a) for an action which started in the past and continues up to the present, especially with state verbs such as be, have, like, know, etc. In this case, we often use for and since.

Rachel has had the dog for three years. (She got the dog three years ago and she still has it.)

- b) for an action which has recently finished and whose result is visible in the present.

She has just washed her hair. (She has now wrapped her hair in a towel, so the action has finished.)

- c) for an action which happened at an unstated time in the past. The exact time is not mentioned because it is either unknown or unimportant. The emphasis is placed on the action.

The Taylors have bought a sailing boat. (The exact time is unknown or unimportant. What is important is the fact that they now own a sailing boat.)

- d) for an action which has happened within a specific time period which is not over at the moment of speaking. We often use words and expressions such as today, this morning/evening/week/month, etc.

She has taken fifteen pictures today. (The time period - today - is not over yet. She may take more pictures.)

BUT: She took twenty pictures yesterday. (The time period - yesterday - is over.)

Note: We use the present perfect to announce a piece of news and the past simple or past continuous to give more details about it.

The police have finally arrested Peter Duncan. He was trying to leave the country when they caught him.

The present perfect is used with the following time expressions: for, since, already, yet, always, just, ever, never, so far, today, this week/month, etc., how long, lately, recently, still (in negations), etc.

Present Perfect Continuous

We use the present perfect continuous:

- a) to put emphasis on the duration of an action which started in the past and continues up to the present, especially with time expressions such as for, since, all morning/day/year, etc.

Sam has been talking on the phone for half an hour. (He began talking on the phone half an hour ago and he is still talking.)

- b) for an action which started in the past and lasted for some time. The action may have finished or may still be going on. The result of the action is visible in the present.

Her feet hurt. She has been walking all morning. (The result of the action is visible in the present - her feet hurt.)

- c) to express anger, irritation or annoyance.

Somebody has been giving away our plans.

(The speaker is irritated.)

Note: With the verbs live, work, teach and feel (= have a particular emotion) we can use the present perfect or present perfect continuous with no difference in meaning.

We have lived/have been living here for twenty years.

The present perfect continuous is used with the following time expressions: for, since, how long, lately, recently.

State Verbs

- verbs which express likes and dislikes: like, love, dislike, hate, enjoy, prefer, adore, etc. e.g. I love chocolate ice cream.
- verbs of the senses: see, hear, smell, taste, feel, look, sound. We often use can or could with these verbs when we refer to what we see, hear, etc. at the moment of speaking. e.g. Jim must be at home. I can see his car parked outside.
