School Teams - Process

The school teams should consist of

- a.3 core student participants
- b.1 or 2 teachers-coaches
- c. (optionally 1 or 2 substitute student participants).

The 3 students will participate as first, second and third or rebuttal speakers. If a student, for justified reasons, cannot participate in the debate the last minute, either one of the substitute students or one of the main team members may assume their partner's role.

Our school will invite an extra shadow team that will debate without their scores counting in the process, in case there is an odd number of teams registered or a registered team drops out of the event.

The event includes two rounds of debate with all the school teams, followed by a final round with the two teams with the highest scores. The debates in each round will take place simultaneously.

Each debate is conducted by a table that includes a Chairperson (acting as a judge as well), two more judges and a Timekeeper. At the end of the debate, the judges will assess both teams and provide feedback. The 3 best delegates, who will come from the first two rounds of the event, will be the winners and will travel to Belgium in April. The team which will win the finals will be presented with the Debate Champion 2025 Award.

The closing session includes a ceremony to publish results and deliver the awards, honorary recognitions and participation certificates.

Motions

Motions are the ideas, topics, propositions to be debated by the teams.

The motions for the national selection event are proposed by the participating schools, discussed with our academic advisors and approved by the Organising Team. In all the 10 motions to be used in the debate event will be published 20 days before the event.

We will ensure the random distribution of the motions on the day of the debate event.

Debate

The debate includes a proposition team that defends the motion and an opposition team that opposes the motion.

The teams will know 30 minutes before the first and similarly before the second round the motion that will be debated. They are given a 30-minute period for preparation, during which they are not allowed to use any digital devices.

The teams must present themselves to the Chairperson 5 minutes before each debate. The chairperson tosses a coin in the presence of both teams. The team winning the toss is the proponent of the motion. During the debate, the speakers cannot have with them or use any electronic devices.

The proposition team makes the first intervention. The constructive speeches, delivered by the first two speakers of each team, have a time limit of five minutes.

The summary or rebuttal speeches, delivered by the third speaker of each team, have a time limit of three minutes.

Between each intervention, there is a 1-minute break.

The interventions follow the structure and use the time limits as presented in the table below:

1 st Speakers	Proposition: 5 min Opposition: 5 min	Motion definition Setting issues for debate Presenting the team's case
2 nd Speakers	Proposition: 5 min Opposition: 5 min	Handle definition if needed Answer other team's arguments Continue to build the team's case
Summary Speakers	Proposition: 3 min Opposition: 3 min	Refute the other team's arguments Sum up the team's case

The Timekeeper tracks speakers' time using a desk bell to indicate the beginning and end of the speeches. A double ring of the desk bell will signal the beginning of the speech, a second ring will signal the beginning of the last minute, and a third and double ring will signal the end of the time, reinforced by another double ring after 10 seconds. The end of the 1-minute break will be marked with one ring.

Summary or rebuttal speakers cannot present new arguments.

At the end of the debate, adjudicators have 4 minutes to decide on each team's score, fill in the score sheet and put the sheet in a closed envelope. Then, they have 3` to give brief feedback to both teams. The Chairperson closes the debate.

In all the rounds, the teams' scores are delivered to the Coordination Team, which updates the scoring board.

Adjudication

Adjudication is the process of assessing teams' participation in the debate. In this event, teams are assessed by two judges using specific criteria and a score (0-20).

Judges are selected among teachers unrelated to any of the teams.

The Coordination Team provides prep training for the adjudication team before the event, assuring judges' readiness, equality, and fairness.

Each judge is responsible for rating both teams' performance using three criteria: (i) Attitude regarding the debate, including team engagement and contribution; (ii) Content or the compelling strength of each team case, arguments, and refutation; (iii) Delivery meaning the ability to present their arguments persuasively and expressively.

The table below presents the three criteria, their value, and main indicators.

Attitude	0-8 points	-Ability to listen and respond -Team members support -Respect for the other team -Valuing the structure and rules of debate
Content	0-8 points	-Argumentation relevance and strength -Rebuttal pertinence and quality -Overall compelling and consistent case
Delivery	0-4 points	-Body language -Vocal style -Rhetoric techniques

Code of conduct

During the event, all participants and other people present should:

- a) Value debate as an opportunity to develop empathy, critical and creative thinking
- b) Understand the critical importance of debating for the common good and shared future
- c) Acknowledge both teams` roles in deepening each motion
- d) Exercise active listening
- e) Show respect for each other at all times and in all roles
- f) Comply with existing regulations
- g) Avoid remarks or casual jokes that can be easily misinterpreted
- h) Contribute to a positive debate environment where everyone's voice and ideas are heard

Notes:

1. The judges can discuss the speakers' performance, but their assessment is individual. At the end, the speakers' and the team's score for each debate is achieved by adding the 2 judges' and the Chairperson's assessment in a final score.
2. It is possible to give points between two categories ( e.g. 7 or 7.5)
3. An argument includes the statement (ASSERTION), explanation (REASONING) and illustration (EVIDENCE)
