BLACKOUT POETRY

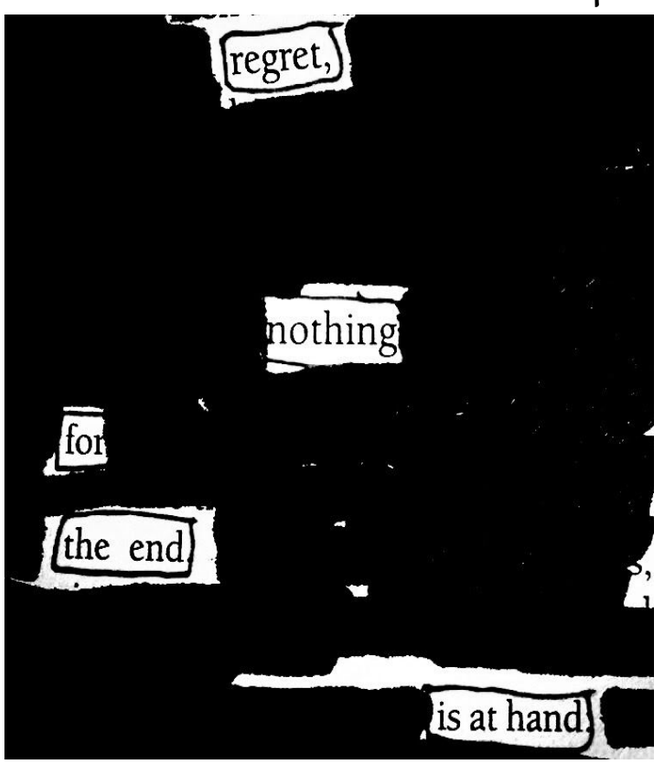

Curious?

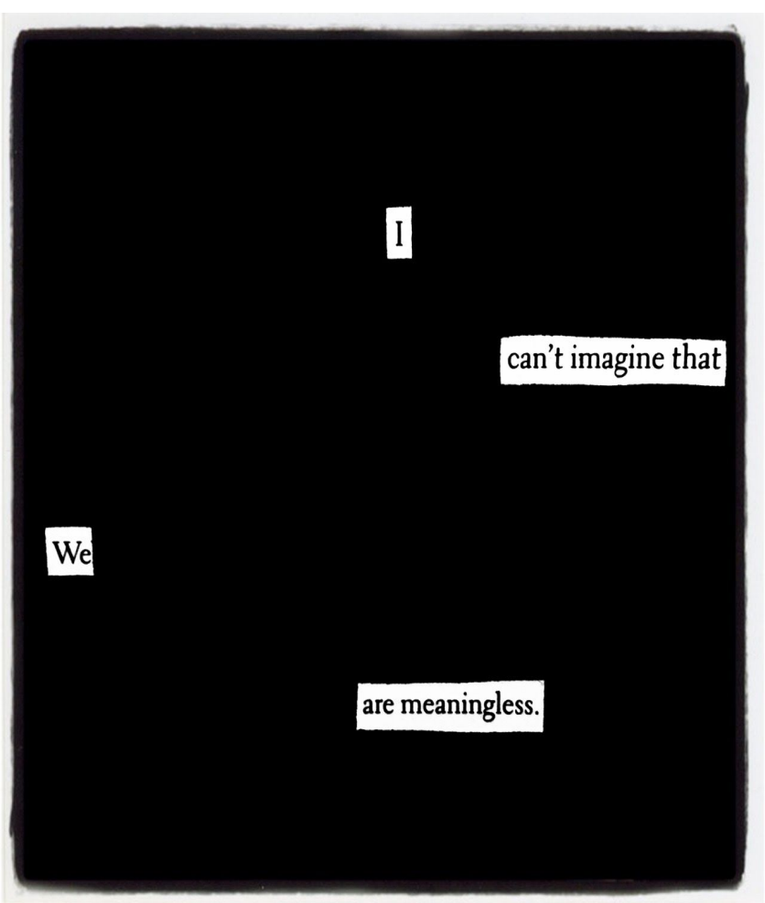

Click to get inspired.

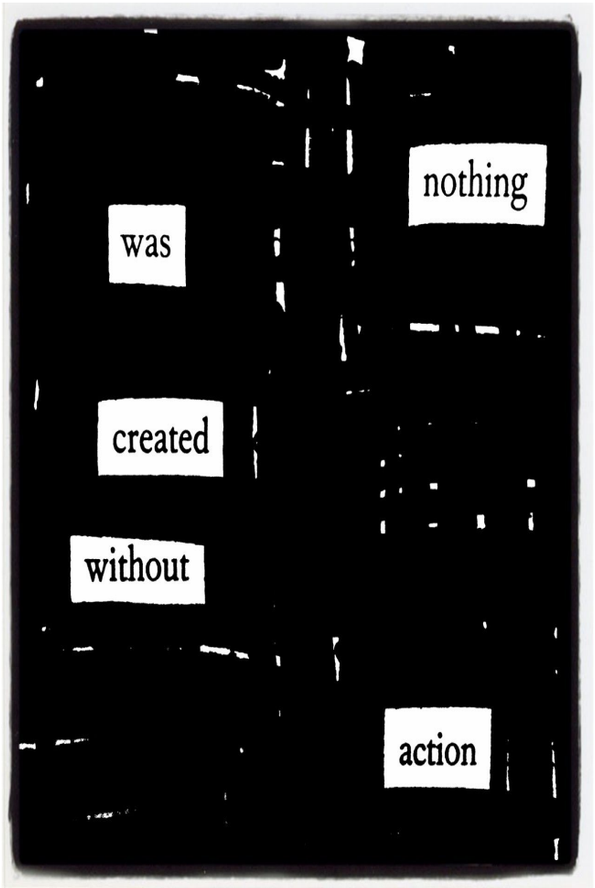

Wait so what?...

click here to find out what blackout poetry is.

Let's look at some examples:

HOW DO I EVEN START WRITING A BLACKOUT POEM?

→

Click to get a tutorial.

Ready to start writing? Look below for instructions!

Now it's your turn:

1. Find a book from the table in the back of the room.
2. Find a page in the book and rip it out.
3. Grab a sharpie from your teacher and create your poem by blacking out the words you don't want and leaving the ones you do.
4. Decorate with markers, etc.
5. Hang it on the whiteboard!

Hyperdoc by Nicole Beardsley & Katie Herr