Subject: Some Tips to Help You Save Money

Hi Tania,

I know you said you don't have anything to wear and you're spending too much money on clothes. I want to help! Here are some easy ideas.

First, clean your wardrobe. Look at everything you already have. You may find clothes you forgot about. Then, try new outfits at home by mixing different clothes together—it's fun!

Before you buy anything new, ask yourself: "Will I wear this 30 times?" If the answer is no, don't buy it. You can also try swapping clothes with friends or buying secondhand. It's cheaper and better for the planet.

If you don't wear something often, maybe you can borrow it or fix an old item to make it look new. There are also apps where you can rent clothes from other people.

Let me know if you want to go thrift shopping together!

Love,
Laura
